

Monday 7th February 2022

Year 2 Remote Learning

Literacy

9:00 – 10:15

Let's make a prediction.

Monday 7th February 2022

I can describe an animal.

Why might the giraffe be lonely?

How does his expression suggest that he is lonely?

Get comfy and ready to read the story of The Lonely Giraffe.

The jungle animals were really quite a friendly bunch.
Every day the cockatoos were first to shake their feathers and wake up the other animals.

The elephants would trumpet "good morning"
and the snakes would hiss "hello".

Even the grumpy lion managed a friendly growl.

All the animals met near the river for breakfast every morning to discuss the jungle news. Everyone took their turn to speak, but no one listened to the giraffe.

The giraffe was just too tall. By the time he had spread his spindly legs and lowered his head to the ground the other animals had lost interest.

So the giraffe would lift his long neck and wander off.

He spent all day with his head in the trees eating the sweetest leaves.

He didn't realise that the birds and the monkeys that lived in the trees were frightened of his large head suddenly appearing in the treetops. Or that the small animals on the ground ran away because they were scared of being trodden on.

In the end the lonely giraffe didn't bother trying to speak to anyone. He moved from tree to tree munching on the leaves, and the jungle creatures went on avoiding him. That was how it went for the whole of the long dry summer.

When the rainy season came the large animals headed for the high ground. The small creatures sheltered in the bushes near the river, and the monkeys took cover in the trees. The rain poured down for days. The jungle animals became frightened that the river would burst its banks.

"Don't worry," said the alligator. "I'll carry you to safety in my big wide jaws!"

But the animals didn't trust him.

As the river rose the jungle creatures became even more frightened.
They huddled together
beneath the bushes.

And no one heard the distant roar until the leopard pricked up his ears. But nobody could think what it was.

The giraffe looked over the heads of the animals on the ground. His big eyes widened like saucers and he slowly bent his spotted neck until the worried creatures could hear him.

"The river is flooding," said the giraffe in a surprisingly squeaky voice. "A wall of water is racing down the valley."

"What can we do?" asked the gazelle.

"It's too late to run away."

"We'll all be drowned," squeaked the mouse.

"Or the alligator will eat us," hissed the snake.

"Climb up here," called the monkey from the treetops. "The river won't reach the high branches."

"Hurry," squawked the cockatoo. "I can see the water coming."

The jungle animals raced to the trees. But some of them could not climb up the slippery tree trunks. Their hooves and tails were not made for climbing.

The roaring water rushed closer and the animals
shivered with fright.

Then the giraffe had an idea. He bent his knees and spoke to the animals. "Climb on to my back," he squeaked in his high voice. "The water is almost here."

The river was lapping around the creatures. The monkey jumped up the giraffe's neck and called to the others. The hairy wart hog was next to carefully climb on.

One by one the animals helped each other to safety.

Then the giraffe straightened his knees
as the water flooded the jungle.

He stretched up his long neck and the last few animals hurried into the branches, helped by the chattering monkeys. The water washed around the giraffe's strong legs and sprayed the animals in the trees.

Then the river rushed on. The water slowly sank back to the ground and the sun came out from behind the clouds.

The giraffe poked his head into the high branches and the animals slid down his back to the damp earth.

From that day on the giraffe was never lonely again.

The jungle animals would wait for the giraffe to lower his head and join in the conversation. The birds and monkeys in the trees were no longer afraid of the giraffe's big head. The cockatoos would find the sweetest leaves for the brave giraffe. The elephants would trumpet "good morning" and the snakes would hiss "hello". And the grumpy lion would pretend to growl before falling asleep in the sunshine.

Monday 7th February 2022

I can describe an animal.

A50 A44 A51 A61

What animals are in the story?

Monday 7th February 2022

I can describe an animal.

How would you describe the giraffe?

-ly -ful -ness -ment -en -est -less

Monday 7th February 2022

I can describe an animal.

A50 A44 A51 A61

Can you identify the adjectives in these sentence?

The tall, thin giraffe has a strong, long neck that helps him to reach tall into the leafy trees. On his body, there is an orange, patched pattern that covers him from head to toe. Straight legs stretch out from beneath the harmless giraffe.

-ly -ful -ness -ment -en -est -less

Monday 7th February 2022

I can describe an animal..

Can you identify your adjectives by underlining them?

Write sentences describing some animals from the story using expanded noun phrases, conjunctions and suffix words.

and but or so if when that because

Suffix words to use in your sentences.

- ly	- ful	- less	- ness	- ment	- en	- est
happily	fearful	fearless	quietness	disappointment	frozen	happiest joyfully	cheerful	hopeless	kindness	amazement	blacken	saddest
slowly	delightful	helpless	sadness	agreement	darken	loneliest
sadly	wonderful	harmless	wetness	excitement	lighten	fastest quickly	joyful	worthless	calmness	refreshment	brighten	slowest
calmly	truthful	useless	happiness	enjoyment	whiten	loudest
shyly	helpful	fearless	loneliness		golden	quietest
quietly	forgetful	colourless				spottiest
loudly	wishful					fluffiest
bravely	colourful					bravest
safely	useful					brightest

Maths

10: 45 – 11:45

Click on the link below to learn all about 2D shapes.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mitk0Puvj2U>

7.2.22

I can sort 2D shapes. A 4 3

Can you name these 2D shapes?

What does 2D mean?

2D shapes circle triangle square rectangle
pentagon hexagon

circle

disks clock

square

chocolate

windows

rectangle

rulers

envelopes

oval

mirror

jewel

7.2.22

MATHS

10:45 - 11:45

I can sort 2D shapes. A 4 3

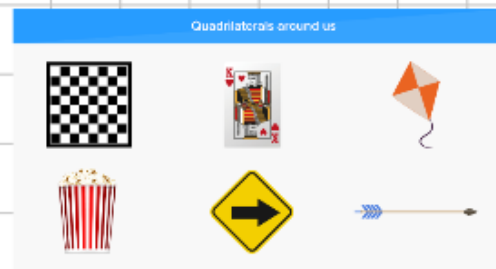

hexagon

pentagon

quadrilateral octagon

Task 1

Can you go on a shape hunt around your home.
How many 2D shapes can you find?

Task 2

Match the shape to its name.

circle

hexagon

pentagon

square

triangle

rectangle

Sort the 2D shapes under the correct headings

Sort the 2D shapes under the correct headings

Sort the 2D shapes under the correct headings

circle

square

triangle

rectangle

Sort the 2D shapes under the correct headings

pentagon

--	--

hexagon

--	--

octagon

--	--

quadrilateral

--	--

Handwriting

11:45 – 12:00

Handwriting

Monday 7th February 2022

n

n

nl

nl

2:00 - 3:00

7.2.22

I can name animals.

What is an animal?

What do all animals have in common?

What can be different about animals?

7.2.22

I can name animals.

Kangaroo

Here are some Australian animals.

Koala

Kookaburra

Manatee

Crocodile

Frog

7.2.22

I can name animals.

Use the link below
to reasearch some facts about each animal.

Manatee

Crocodile

Kangaroo

Frog

Kookaburra

Koala

<https://www.kiddle.co/>

7.2.22

I can name animals.

Choose some Australian Animals to draw.

Write some facts about them.

7.2.22

I can name animals.

What is the same and what is different?

Think about:

- their features
- what they eat
- where they live
- warm or cold blooded?
- lay eggs or give birth?
- fur, feathers, scales or porous skin?

